Sixth Sunday of Ordinary Time

Theme/Call To Worship

The readings for the Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time provide a model of mercy for us to follow as we live and interact with each other. In our homes, in our places of work, and in larger society. As Christians, we are called to show mercy and kindness to all whom we encounter.

Introduction To The Word

Leviticus 13:1-2, 44-46: The first reading is taken from the Book of Leviticus that addresses legal purity. As we hear in the reading, Israelites with the disease of leprosy were considered ritualistically unclean, and therefore required to be separated from the community (and from God) so as to contain the spread and effect of the disease.

1 Corinthians 10:31—11:1: For the second reading, we continue to hear from Paul's First Letter to the Corinthians. In typical Pauline fashion, Paul sets his comments in an extended theological reflection; in this case, on Christian freedom. For Paul, Christian freedom should serve as an invitation for salvation, and as a reminder of the importance to treat others (especially the unclean and culturally different) with kindness and mercy.

Mark 1:40-45: Within the context of the Jewish Purity Laws, the leper's faith in Jesus was grounded in his desire to be in a right relationship with God. "Moved with pity" Jesus makes the leper clean. Despite Jesus' command to silence, the leper cannot help but proclaim to others the depth of mercy that Jesus showed him in healing his disease. Given the Jewish belief that disease separated one from God, the news that Jesus could make lepers clean would have generated an unprecedented level of hope for those suffering with afflictions of all sorts. The reaction of the villagers to Jesus in the towns of Galilee reflects the human, deep desire to be connected to God

This Sunday's Special Collection

This week our diocese will take up the Peter's Pence Collection, which enables all of us here in the Archdiocese to demonstrate both our fidelity and love to the Holy Father and to show our concern for and solidarity with those less fortunate than ourselves in all corners of the world. Together with our Holy Father, you will be doing the work of the Lord by providing assistance to seminaries, institutes of Christian formation, the victims of war, oppression, and disaster. Through your generosity, with Pope Francis we can cast the love of Christ upon the world.
